HEALTH EXPENDITURES

Frankfort, Ky., Feb.—State expenditures for public health under the supervision of the State Board of Health totalled $495,610.52 during the first 11 months of 1932. The sum represented an increase of $11,529.20 over the total expenditure the first 11 months of 1931, according to data complied by Nat B. Sewell, State Inspector and Examiner.

The largest item of increase was for county health departments, which took $194,708.33 for 1932 period as compared with $147,166.63 in 1931.

It cost $15,001.56 to maintain the bureau of hotels, which is under the State Board of Health. This represented an increase of $1,782.65 in money spent for this purpose.

Administrative functions of the State Board of Health cost $80,450.48 in the first 11 months of 1932, which was $4,366.52 less than in the preceding year.

Sewing Circle Meets

The Cannel City sewing circle met at the home of Mrs. Rissie Lykins February 10. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. D. Benton. After singing, "Glory Be To Jesus," Mrs. Russell Bailey read a beautiful scripture lesson. Prayer by Mrs. J. C. Terrell. Mrs. Lykins, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Russell Bailey, served cream pie and homemade candy to those present. The evening was enjoyed by all. Those present were: Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs J. C. Terrell, Mrs. Herbert Elam, Mrs. J. D. Benton, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. G. E. Nickell, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Russell Bailey, Mrs. Geo. Collinsworth, Mrs. Barbara Lykins, Mrs. Lula Terrell and Mrs. Rissie Lykins. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Terrell February 24.

TWO WAY RADIO SET

Fort Knox, Ky.,—Short wave apparatus, weighing only 18 pounds, on which two-way conversations can be carried on simultaneously without a change-over switch or retuning has been tested out by the United States Army, here. The tests were made by Mr. L. L. Smith, a former telephone company electrician of Monticello, Ky., on two home-made sets.

Present two-sets of the Army Signal Corps use two sets of tubes, one for transmitting and one for receiving. "In the new set," said Leiut. W. P. Withers, signal officer, "We carried on conversations just like you do on an ordinary telephone without having to move any switches.

TWO DEMOCRATIC GOVERNORS

In his campaign for the Governorship of Indiana last fall Paul V. McNutt,the Democratic nominee, told the voters if they elected him he would reduce their taxes by eliminating useless officials from the State payroll and putting into effect rigid economy in governmental operations After taking his seat in the Executive chair Governor McNutt immediately started to work to make his promise good. As a result the Indiana Legislature, which is Democratic in both branches, now has before it a bill consolidating bureaus and otherwise dispensing with unnecessary officials which it is estimated will save the taxpayers of that State between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually.

In his campaign for the Governorship of Kentucky two years ago Ruby Laffoon, the Democratic nominee, told the voters if they elected him he would take the State tax off real estate, eliminating useless offices and reduce taxes. He said he would stop the big leak at Frankfort and use the funds to pay off the State's floating indebtness during his term of office. After taking his seat in the Executive chair Governor Laffoon immediately forgot his pledges to the voters and started to work providing jobs for his faithful henchmen of the machine that engineered his nomination. At his direction the Legislature added another member to the Highway Commission, and abolished the non-salaried State Board of Charities and Correction and created a Department of Public Welfare with paid members. Instead of reducing taxes he attempted to increase taxes by the imposition of a General Sales tax, but was unable to get his bill through the Senate. He not only went squarely back on his promise to take the State tax off real estate but he vetoed a bill reducing this tax from 30 to 20 cents on the $100 which the Legislature passed. Inetead of paying off the State's floating indebtness, it has increased since he became Governor.

In marked contrast to what Governor McNutt is doing in Indiana to reduce taxes, Governor Laffoon has started a new campaign to increase taxes and is now running over the State advocating the enactment of a General Sales tax by the next General Assembly that will wring $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 additional each year from the people of Kentucky.

What Indiana is doing Kentucky should do. The Indiana Governor and Legislature are doing exactly what the people of Indiana want done—decreasing expenditures and cutting down taxes. The people of Kentucky want the same thing. They are opposed to a General Sales Tax or any other additional levy because they are unable to pay taxes already imposed. They see no reason why the State should not curtail its expenditures and practice rigid economy just as every individual has been forced to do. They are convinced that if this is done the State will be able to get along despite the reduced revenue.—The Shelby News.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. B. F. Carter was given a surprise birthday party February1 by her daughter, Mrs. L. Y. Redwine. The affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Redwine, Ft. Myers, Florida. Tall baskets of gladioli were arranged about the rooms. The guests were received by Mrs. F. W. Hathaway and Mrs. Redwine. Mrs. Redwine was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. P. Franklin, Mrs. Roy M. Sullivan, Mrs. W. J. Soast and Mrs. Bryant E. Pearce.

In a tree contest Mrs. C. Q. Stewart was the winner. A birthday poem. read by Mrs. Randolph Chandler, was followed by a contest and a short play, "The Nut Family." Mrs. C. J. Stubbs also read a poem and Mrs. J. E. Mattern gave one that she composed for Mrs. Carter. Mrs. Mattern also presented Mrs. Carter with a lovely cake, frosted in red and green and lighted with candles. Mrs. Carter was presented with many gifts from her friends.

Cake, punch and candy were served. The refreshment table, covered with a lace cloth, was lighted by tall white tapers in green crystal holders.

FOR STATE SENATOR

To the voters of Morgan county and the 34th Senatorial District:

Last week this paper carried a formal announcement of my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for State Senator of the 34th Senatorial District, comprising Morgan, Breathitt, Lee, Wolfe and Magoffin counties.

In order that the voters of the district may know something more of my life, past activities and qualifications, I desire to say that I am native of Breathitt county, born 44 years ago on a mountain farm. I attended the public schools of my county, later graduated from Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School, Richmond, Kentucky, and took further studies at the University of Kentucky including courses in law.

The greater part of my employed life has been devoted to educational work, as rural teacher, high school principal, and as County Superintendent of Breathitt county schools, holding from 1924 to 1931. After resigning as County Superintendent, I have been giving full time to law practice. At present I am a member of the law firm—Byrd and Turner, Jackson, Kentucky. The other member of the firm is the Honorable A. Floyd Byrd.

In addition to my professional experience, I am quite familiar and vitally interested in our farm problems, tax situation, public schools, and the public highways of the district.

I have never been a candidate for public office. My party did however, honor me as one of the electors of the state last year, and I had the pleasure of casting my vote for the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Honorable John N. Garner.

I promise if nominated and elected your Senator to faithfully serve all the counties in the district in the interest of its citizens to the very best of my ability.

ERVINE TURNER, Jackson, Ky.

Time Not Wasted

Do not think it wasted time to submit to any influence that will bring upon you any noble feeling.—Ruskin.

* CANNEL CITY SCHOOL NOTES *

Honor roll for 1st grade: Catherine Nickell, Edwin Wells, Irene Williams, Edwin Elam, Dorsey Peyton, Jr., Morris E. Sebastian, Herbert Sebastian, and Clay Hubert Williams.

Honor roll for 3rd grade: James Waldo Elam.

Honor roll for 4th grade: Billie Howard, Harriette Taylor and Anita Peyton.

Honor roll for 6th grade: Alma Burton.

The following new pupils have enrolled in the school: 5th grade, Imogene Arnett; 8th grade, Vincent Walter.

Munford Peyton spent the week end at Lee's College, at Jackson.

Miss Anna Nickell visited home folks at Nickell over the week end. Misses Rose and Marie Risner accompanied her.

Eva and Marvin Burton, members of the freshman class, entertained the following young people Saturday night: Misses Beulah and Geneva Bailey, Gertrude, Lurline and Reva Burton, Dorothy Dunn, Ida and Sara Ferguson, Daisy Rudd and Madella Stacy, and Messers Grover Benton Carl , Claude, Marvin, Ora and Oral Burton, Edward and Richardson Davidson, Dayton Dunn, James and Merle Peyton, Stanley Stacy and Burchal Wells. After enjoying games and music and delicious homemade candy, the guests departed. All reported a delightful time.

The junior class had charge of the chapel exercises Thursday, Feb. 2. Their sponsor, Mr. Forest Lacy, entertained by giving a short biography of Edgar A. Guest and reading the following poems: A Heap Of Living, [illegible] James Whitcome Riley, Ma [illegible] The Auto and The Gentle Garden.

The debating team went to Helechawa, Wednesday, Feb. 1. Alex Spencer, Beelo Patrick and Ernest Ferguson took the affirmative and Waldo Risner, Homer Ratliff and Herchel Collinsworth the negative. They had the best debate the club has staged so far, with a decision in favor of the affirmative.

The debating team met the team of Frenchburg, Thursday, Feb. 9. The team, represented by Alex Spencer, Herchel Collinsworth and Beelo Patrick, had the negative side of the question, "Resolved that at least one half of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than tangible property." The judge Mr. Lambert of Frenchburg, gave the decision to Frenchburg. The debate was the best one that the team ha had yet and the Frenchburg team seemed to think it was the best they had had.

The team and coach were entertained for the night by the school and aa enjoyable time was reported, especially by Mr. Spencer.

The team is to take the negative side of the question here Wednesday night, against the team from West Liberty.

Mr. Peyton had sharge of chapel exercises Tuesday, Feb. 7. He entertained with a reading on success an inspirational poems by James Whitcome Riley, Edgar A. Guest and others. We enjoyed the program evry much and hope to hear from him again.

Ernest Reed and Deska Williams have enrolled in the freshman class.

Miss Stacy was unable to be in school last week because of illness.

Edwin Wells and Rexford Lacy, who have been absent from Miss Burton's room, were back in school Monday.

Magoffin Institute Endowed

A modern fire-proof brick and tile dormitory for boarding girls has been made possible through gifts of friends of the South. The contract for building was awarded to the Flynt Brothers of Lakeville and Mr. Turner of Paintsville. Construction is to begin as soon as weather permits.

The same day the above mentioned contract was awarded; Feb. 6th, a tract of land, consisting of about 200 acres was deeded to be used for school and church purposes. Students of Magoffin Institute will have an opportunity to work on the farm to help produce food for their board during the time they are in school. This will make possible a way for the boys and girls who find it hard to attend school because of finances.

The doner of this tract of land, Mr. Bryce Clemons of Magoffin county, made the gift through appreciation of the Christian education young people were receiving because of the institute, and because he wished to increase the opportunity offered by the school. Mr. Clemons expressed the hope that other friends will do their part by sending the means to build a dairy and other industrial features of the farm.

Students are attending Magoffin Institute from Morgan, Johnson, Floyd, Breathett, Wolfe, Clay, Boyd, Pike and Magoffin counties of this state, and from Michigan, Georgia and West Virginia out of the state.

The very best of Grade and High School education in a Christian atmosphere is offered by Magoffin Institute for boys and girls of ambition.

FIGHTING FOR VETERANS

"If federal aid is denied disabled World war veterans, local communities will have to take care of them either through local taxes, or by charity," declared Henry C. Rose in an address made at Legion Hall at West Liberty, at a meeting of Holly Coffee Post 68.

"In addition to this burden, the merchant and others of the entire community will be deprived of the money now coming into it as aid to these veterans," he said.

The speaker asserted that representatives of interests that now pay large federal income taxes are asking congress in the name of economy to transfer a large portion of the veteran's cost from large interes to the distressed local taxpayers. He named the National Economy League and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as instigators.

"Their yardstick is money," he said. "They have presented no arguments to show that federal expenditures under existing law are wrong or improper. They have ignored the fact that disabled and helpless men must receive help and care. They never point out that men do not pay federal income taxes unless they have incomes to justify them.

"The organized groups simply have presented a series of conclusions not sustained by medical or other scientific evidence. Instead they introduced their attorneys.

"For thirteen years the American Legion has cooperated with congress in the problems of the veterans. Legion cooperation has been welcomed and the Legion has always kept in mind the welfare of the nation as well as the welfare of the veteran.

"The Legion has brought these problems to congress each year. Our hundreds of expert witnesses have testified altogether for months before committees. They have given their first hand experiences, and have included experts in social work, claims handling and diseases.

"The Legion has never merely said these are the conclusions of a million veterans—but for each conclusion has brought forward able and informed witnesses, giving underlying reasons, the necessity, the justice for the conclusion reached by the veterans in their deliberations. Such testimony has been commented upon at length by the government's own experts and then all of this evidence has been revived with great care by congressional committees before their own conclusions were finally reached.

"Anyone who dares challenge this devotion of our legislators in congress by that fact alone exhibits a lack of knowledge.

"The lives of many thousands of veterans have been saved by the provisions of the World War Veterans' Act. The organized groups now seek to overturn the basic theories of veterans' relief and veterans' care. Summed up, they declare all previous congresses back to the Revolutionary war have been wrong. They want to remove the veteran from the position of honor he has held in American life and history since Colonial days and place him in exactly the same position before the national government as the citizen who rendered no military assistance in time of greatest peril, but who stayed out of the hardships and dangers to take advantage of financial opportunities."

POWER AND CULTURE

William D. Boutwell, editor of "School Life," published monthly by the Office of Education, of which Dr. William J. Cooper is the head, recently made an interesting deduction by inference on the possibilities of the relative uses of horse-power and man power in creating an age of culture and freedom from want for every one.

Quoting an engineer who stated that there are eighty-two horse-power units in mechanical devices for every man, woman and child in this country Mr. Boutwell, who harks back to the cause which gave rise to the "Golden Age of Greece," said:

"Ownership of slaves released the masters for a life of culture and creative achievement. Greece, given the service of multitude of slaves, created a Golden Age. We have been given an even greater multitude of slaves, and what have we done with the opportunity? We have made a 'mess' of it."

Many are wondering why some one of us does not tell the rest of us how to cease making a 'mess of it.' Some are wondering if the "how" is not related in some way to the "new deal" and Mussel Shoals. Some exclaim, what an opportunity for an example of directed social use of a few hundred thousand horsepower of electrical energy slaves. What a multitude of non-sentient slaves in that great dam! What great hopes for us all if we will but keep our heads, and with printers ink and the ballot box, go about it to create economic conditions in human society which will, for culture and all else, surpass the Golden Age of Greece!

Many of Henry Ford's fellow citizens who think more than they talk agree with him that "the machine age is barely started;" that with its further development, "the dirt and ugliness and confusion and disregard of human rights which are all about us today will be done away with."

But the question raised by some is: What power will hold the title and the right to operate the machine, private corporate wealth or society? If human rights are to be regarded, two deductions may be made, they say. One school—and it is now much in the majority—will deduce that such rights can be conserved only by keeping the title and right to operate the machine in private corporate wealth as it is today. The other school, and it is increasing in numbers, will deduce that such rights can be regarded only by transferring the title to the machine and the right to operate it to society, conceived as the Federal Government, a state or a municipality.

What can we do, and that rather quickly, to stop making a "mess of it," is asked by many. With 11,000,000 people out of work we are paying about $50,000,000 less in daily wages and salaries than we were and rapidly consuming our fat. With the fat consumed it is declared that we will become a nation of paupers. What then? God knows, but let us keep a "stiff upper lip" and our schools running. Something good will come out of it all.

ENTERTAINS

Miss Sallie Minor entertained with a very delightful birthday party, Friday afternoon, in honor of her little nephew, William Faulkner Minor. The hostess with the same sweet smile and kindly handshake, which mean much to those who know her, received the following guests: Helen, Charles and Harriet Taylor, Tommy and Maurine Nickell, Dorsie Jr. and Alex Peyton, Morris Gene Sebastian, Wilma Faulkner, Hallie Mae and Philip Jr. Donavan, Charles Edwin Elam and Mesdames DeWitt Taylor, M. R. Elam, Carl Sebastian, D. P. Peyton, Phil Donavan, Geo. Nickell, Fred Hillman and J. D. Whiteaker.

The afternoon was spent in conversing about things worthwhile, and much laughter was heard throughout the afternoon, especially when delicious refreshments arrived.

Mrs. Hillman took charge of the children, and rendered a number of selections after which the adults joined the happy band and sang a number of beautiful old hymns. When the hour arrived for our departure, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was sung, and all left realizing it was a blessing to have such a neighbor, because of the influence of her kindly life which will not cease to be felt, in the lives of those who are fortunate enough to come in contact with Miss Minor.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Homemakers at Convention

Opposition to drastic economy in the support of educational activities is voiced in the 1933 program of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, as announced by Mrs. T. F. Lynch, Fayette county farm woman president of the state organization.

The platform of the federation includes four planks—

To protect the home from dangers threatening as a result of the depression.

To cooperate with farm organizations in advancing the cause of agriculture.

To sponsor the cultural activities adapted to rural living.

The first plank is interpreted by Mrs. Lynch to mean a defense of all educational activities from taking more than their share of economy move.

Reports made at the recent first annual meeting of the Federation held during the Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky showed a membership of 6,122 women in 320 homemakers' clubs in 29 counties in the state. Women are organized into community clubs. These clubs make up the county homemakers' association, and county organizations are grouped into the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers.

The local organizations are study groups which work under the supervision of county home demonstration agents and the home demonstration division of the extension service of the College of Agriculture.

Reports at the annual meeting included a review of curb markets sponsored by the Ohio county homemakers' association at Hartford and Beaver Dam; the winning of third prize in the National Better Homes contest by the Graves county association, and the development of choruses, singing schools and other social and cultural activities.

Miss Myrtle Weldon, leader of home demonstration work for the College of Agriculture, in her 1932 annual report, placed a value of $271,567 on the productive work in the state last year. This included canning and preserving of foods, making of clothing, home improvements and other tangible contributions.

The Kentucky Federation of Homemakers was organized during the annual Farm and Home Convention in 1932, when Mrs. Lynch was elected president, and Mrs. Fleet Davis, of Smithfield, secretary for a term of two years. Other officers were re-elected or elected at the first annual meeting this year as follows: Mrs. F. O. Moore, Straight Creek, vice-president; Mrs. O. L. Barnes, Hopkinsville, treasurer; Mrs. John Land, Landcaster, publicity chairman, and directors as follows: Mrs. Mike Oliver, Paducah; Mrs. McCown Ferguson, South Carrollton; Mrs. T. M. Johnson, Rockfield; Mrs Ernest Bowyer, Winchester, and Mr. W. T. Brooks, Loyall.

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast the following farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WHAS the week of Feb. 20. Each program will begin at 12:45, central standard time.

Feb. 20.—Review of 1932 tobacco market, James A. McDonald. The outlook for livestock prices, C. D. Phillips.

Feb. 21.—Orchard grass for Kentucky pastures, E. J. Kinney. Prepare for the brooding season, C. E. Harris.

Feb. 22.—Lambing problems, R. C. Miller. Farm management and the outlook, W. D. Nicholls.

Feb. 23.—Timely chats with fruit growers, C. O. Eddy. Spring care of orchards, A. J. Olney.

Feb. 24.—What farm folks are asking, L. C. Brewer.

Farm Convention Nuggets

Following are excerps from addresses delivered at the annual Farm and Home Convention at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky:

By cooperatives the farmer may be saved, but without them he is surely lost.—W. B. Belknap, Oldham county.

The 5 to 10 percent more food that will be needed in the next decade, and the 20 percent that will be needed eventually, could be produced by the use of more fertilizer and better practices on the present acreage.—Dr. O. E. Baker, U. S. Department of Agriculture economist.

The tragedy of the present generation has been the continued increase of the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays.—L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange.

Regardless of the system of marketing, poultrymen are finding it necessary to produce eggs of top quality if they are to get a better price.—Prof. Leon Todd, Purdue University.

Cooperation offers the best way for farmers to solve their problems of common interest and mutual benefit.—A. J. Glover, editor of "Hoard's Dairyman."

If all modern farm machinery were wiped out overnight, 80,000,000 of our people would have to go back on the soil and begin their daily grind for food.— Prof. J. B. Kelley, College of Agriculture.

The hog is still the poor man's best friend and the most profitable meat animal on the farm.—M. D Royse Clark county.

Industry in our state, and the nation as well, cannot prosper unless the farmers are relieved.—Eugene Flowers, Commissioner of Agriculture

Watch Fof Lable

The Kentucky seed law does not exclude the poor seed from the market. Any mixture of crop seed, weed seed and dirt can be sold in conformity with the seed law provided information in this regard is furnished on the bag. "For this reason no seed should be purchased without the Kentucky seed lable," says a statement by Prof. W. A. Price, in charge of the seed laboratories at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky.

"The pure seed law was enacted for the benefit and protection of the farmer; and unless he demands that every lot of seed sold to him bear a Kentucky tag showing the percentage of pure seed, percentage of germination and weed seed content he is defeating the purpose of the law. It is his privilege to demand these tags, and only to the extent that he exercises this right will he be benefited by the law.

"Farmers should note that the Kentucky seed law does not discriminate between seedsmen within and without the State. The seedsman within the State must comply with the law, whereas the seedsman outside the State, when shipping seeds to Kentucky can comply with the law if he so desires. The matter is largely in the hands of the farmers. If they insist upon buying seed properly labeled with Kentucky tags the out-of-state seedsmen will furnish them. They may try to discourage the use of the tag by saying that it will cost 8 cents per 100 pounds more with the tags attaached. It is worth this much to the farmer to know what he is getting and to have the protection of the law. Consider this small item of expense with the cost of eradicating weeds which come as a result of sowing poor, untagged seed. It is insignificant."

People's Column

TO THE TAXPAYERS

The state and county office seekers open their campaign by telling the farmers and taxpayers that they are asking for the office in order that they may serve them and their interest. I am an average tax payer of Morgan county. I pay my tax willingly and cheerfully, with a feeling of pride that I have been able to contribute to good government and good schools.

There is now a contention as to what method of taxation should be used. Some contending one way and some another without giving a feasible remedy. Therefore, we farmers ask for a reduction of taxation and a curtailment of expenses.

The present members of the Fiscal Court are Tom Richardson, M. B. Whitt, W. M. Cox and W. R. Rowland. Under the law these men are required to fix the salaries of our incoming county officers not later than April 30th 1933. I sincerely hope that the members of the Fiscal Court will guard well the interest of the tax payers of Morgan county by a gereral reduction in salaries and expenses.

Yours truly,
FLOYD ARNETT

MEDITATIONS

Licking Valley Courier,
West Liberty, Ky.
Dear Sirs:

In last week's issue of your paper, on page two, column three, I find an article, entitled, "The Power of the Word," by Mrs. J. D. Whiteaker, which is very inspiring and at the same time expresses a very lamentable fact.

I believe that article should be framed and hung in every home.

Now, back to the days of the old-fashioned revival spoken of by Mrs. Whiteaker, and which many of us remember, we are made to wonder what is the cause of the "waning," and my meditations run like this:

When the revival was in full swing and the POWER of GOD was being felt on every hand, a few men took advantage of the opportunity, and began to build up and strengthen divisional lines, and to say (in substance) "Lo here is Christ, or, there," and instead of "Endeavoring to keep the UNITY of the Spirit in the bond of peace," Eph. 4, 3, there seemed to spring up a kind of envy among people of different religious belief, and that envy has resolved itself into a feeling of enmity, which is commonly known as "Predjudice."

It seems to me those days were like John the Baptist, a forerunner of a better day, and the Church failed to see and walk in the light, Zech. 14, 7, as the Jews failed to receive Christ, and thereby lost the spirit of the times, and fellowship with each other, and communion with God.

What the Church needs to do to get back into relation with God and fellowship with each other, is to get back to her "First Love," and walk in the light, as God is in the light, and the blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, will cleanse us from all sin, 1st John, 1-6, 7 even the sin of Division.

I am sending this from a heart full of love, and pray God to bless it to His glory and to the good of many precious souls.

Yours in Christ,
L. P. HANEY

PROSPECTS GOOD

The political arena is budding fast, and we feel that as the gentle rains of solicitation falls that by the time Circuit Court is over, it will be in full bloom, and that by August the 9th the ripe fruit will be gathered and that, that has failed to mature will be cast into the rubbish can. If all the other candidates are of the type of men as those already announced, it looks as if Morgan need not fear the next official term, for we feel like she ought to get a good set of officers. Here's hoping that the electorate will look well to the interest of the masses. SPIRIT of HOPE

DECADEND LAWMAKERS

Well, we read of a $50,000 appropriation made by Congress for the special enjovments of "in and around the White House,, to furnish our Congressmen and Senators with their shaves, shampoos, shoe shines, hair tonics and "minearl water," which for all we know might be properly termed "spiritual water," and a swimming pool for our President, which, of course, would have to be kept filtered and sterilized to be kept sanitary, for a President should be a clean man, but the taxpayers that pay the bill can take a plunge in some creek or brook prepared by God for that purpose. Oh ye lawmakers.

Our Government —How It Operates

By William Bruckart

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

ONE of the greatest problems which this, or any other government, has been called upon to solve involves the veterans of the World war. It is a problem that has bedeviled congress and one President after another, and it is going to bedevil more congresses and more Presidents, for the answer is not in sight and in this year alone, the payments to veterans under one or another of the hundred-odd veteran relief acts amounts to the astounding total of $985,000,000—just about one-fourth of the operating cost of the government, or that part paid for running expenses.

All of this vast sum, and it has been growing year by year, is paid out through one agency, namely, the veterans' administration. The veterans' administration is not in the fight; it is not a part of the problem. It is simply the agency through which the money passes, never to return to the federal treasury.

Undoubtedly, there is a large sum of this total which the taxpayers would not have returned to the treasury. Surely, there is none who would object to a governmental and public expression of gratitude in the form of compensation and care for the widows and orphans left behind by those who made the supreme sacrifice, or for those men whose lives were wrecked in the service. The care of them is recognized everywhere as an obligation that must be met. But about the remainder of this sum, a real battle wages, for that involves the bonus. It includes payments in the nature of compensation or hospitalization and the like for causes not remotely connected with the war. These are the things that are being questioned, and unless all signs fail, congresses of the future are going to be confronted by it, because there never has been an investigation made to disclose what share of the nearly a billion dollars falls within the recognized requirement of caring for widows and orphans and war-time disabled.

The best available figures indicate that something like 400,000 persons are receiving payments in one form or another under the veterans' relief acts. But that is not all. There is that demand, best exemplified by the bonus march on Washington, for payment of the remainder of the bonus in cash. Half of the sum that was intended originally to be paid to the veterans in 1945, or prior to that time to be paid to their benficiaries in case of death, already has been made available, in the form of loans. There is no denying, however, that some of the veterans have organized powerful groups to force legislation through to carry out their wishes, and if they do, congress will vote a total of two billion, four hundred million dollars out of the treasury at one fell swoop.

It has been pointed out as this bonus question has been debated up and down that the federal treasury is likely to end the current year next June 30 with another deficit. It had a deficit of $983,000,000 on June 30, 1931, and more than two and a half billion June 30, 1932, so imagination is not required to see what will happen if the bonus is voted. It will be either more taxes or more bond issues which the taxpayers of the country eventually will have to meet.

But the veterans have a claim. They point to the fact that fifty years after the Civil war, the federal government was paying pensions that amounted to as high as $300,000,000 a year, and even now, 65 years after the war between the states, pensions drain $125,000,000 from the treasury.

As was stated, however, the veterans' administration is not a part of the controversy, except incidentally. It goes on carrying out the laws which congress has passed and paying out the money which congress has appropriated. It does the job through some eight or ten thousand employees, scattered throughout the country. They are necessary if funds are to be handled and if the hundred or more hospitals to which veterans may go for treatment are to be supervised.

The veterans' administration has to get as near to those it serves as can be done conveniently. Hence, the fifty-odd district offices; hence, the local physicians in so many communities, hence the examining boards in so many sections. It would appear that the veterans' administration eats up a tremendous sum in salaries. The cost of handling these payments to the veterans or their beneficiaries is only about 5 per cent of the total. Criticism has been directed at the agency from time to time, however, indicative of some malfeasance. Undoubtedly, some of it is justified, but the consensus of opinion is that much of the difficulty into which the veterans' administration falls from time to time results from the avarice of those whom congress has sought to benefit. They were presented with an opportunity to get something from the government, and the government long has been regarded as fair game.

Nothing New

A tablet found at Pas Shamra, in northern Syria, tells the story of a financial crash which resulted from the irregularities of a certain king's finance minister in 2000 B. C.

P. T. A.

The Parent Teachers Association held its regular monthly meeting in the Public School Building, Feb. 13, assembling at 7:00 P. M. with the preident, Mrs. W. A. Caskey, in the chair. There was a fair attendance all joined in singing, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," led by Mrs. Baldwin. Dr. Stepens conducted the devotional, reading from Gal. 6:1-0.

The secretary and treasurer were unable to be present but sent their books. The treasurer's report had recorded 344 pencils sold. At this time there is $16.01 in the bank.

The P. T. A. voted to take charge of the Junior-Senior Banquet May 5, at 60c a plate.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mathis reported Mrs. Franklin and her niece Miss Ruth Gardner would give an evenings entertainment in the way of music and readings, giving all the proceeds to the P. T. A. The offer was accepted and the date will be aranged by the Executive Committee.

Thirteen boys and girls of Miss Ethel Mae Keeton's room put on a Lincoln's Day program, which showed careful preparation on the part of both teacher and pupils.

The president introduced Dr. H. Glen Stephens, Superinteddent of the Frenchburg City Schools. The Dr. by a few trite remarks and an anecdote made himelf acquainted, then held the undivided attention of his hearers.

"Education," he said, "is the philosophy of life at work. The student should not have an inferiority complex. Develop in him, worthiness. Bring out his own superiority. Keep before the student the fact, that what he is to be, he is now becoming. A great deal depends upon the Board of Education, Teachers, and Parents. The future of the community rests upon thses leading educators. They are building the character of the communitie's future men and women. The entire life of the student should be surrounded by walls.

First, there is the Wall of Responsibility. There is a lack of this consciousness by these leading educators. The physical safeguards of our schools are a shame. There are many moral hazards near our schools. There are diseases hitherto unknown. Is the parent and the teacher making his own moral contact a hazard to the student or is he cultivating sobriety, honesty, truthfulness, honesty purity?

Secord, there should be a Wall of Purpose—a purpose in the educational process. A school without a purpose is a menace. There should be the aim of making useful changes and improvements to make character of the highest quality. Train for highest and best citizensship. Create a regard, a reverence for law. High schools should train the student to be independent by giving him a means of self support.

Third, the Wall of Opportunity. The student should be equipped so as to take advantage of opportunity. Lincoln prepared and was ready for opportunity. Remember we lead first by example, second by precept. Lead in a way to cause invitation safely and sanely—to produce purposeful action at the right time. We have a task, a purpose, an opportunity to lead boys and girls to purposeful action." Dr. Stephens quoted with emphasis the following:

BE STRONG

We are not here to play, to dream, to drift,
We have hard work to do, loads to lift:
Shun not the struggle—face it, 'tis God's gift.
Be strong.
Say not, "The days are evil, who's to blame?"
And fold the hands and acquiece—oh shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name
Be strong.

Dr. Wheeler talked of the importance of health and asked that each one look after the spring cleaning of their premises.

The pictures were awarded to the following teachers for the coming month: Mrs. Mathis, Miss Keeton and Mr. Carpenter.

The hospitality committee passed generous servings of delicious candy.

Adjourned until the second Monday in March.

MRS. LUCY DIXON

Mrs. Lucy Dixon departed this life Feb. 15, 1933, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wade Blair, Wrigley. Mrs. Dixon was fifty-nine years of age. She was taken with the flu about Christmas and has been a patient sufferer since.

Mrs. Dixon was a native of Morgan county east of West Liberty until her marriage to John Dixon and they made their home at Wrigley. Her husband preceded her in death Jan. 7, 1926. The following children survive: Rev. Hendrix Dixon and Carter Dixon and Mrs. Lillian Lowe of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Rose Blackwell of Winchester, Mrs. Jennie Belle Blair and Charley and Bernard Dixon of Wrigley. All are here for the funeral, which is to be held at the house by Rev. Harlen Murphy today. Interment will be made in the Wrigley cemetery.

Mrs. Dixon was a member of the Christian church. Those who knew her in girlhood, all those who knew her longest and best in married life, testify to her sweet Christian character. Her children have this sweet memory and look forward to a happy reunion.

SCHOOL DAYS — By DWIG

MISSIONARY NOTES

Laine College, Agusta, Georgia, an institution for colored people, celebrated its fiftieth anniversity last week, February 7, 8,9.

Everyone is invited to unite in a fellowship of prayer on the World Day of Prayer, March 3, 1933. This is an interdenominational project undertaken by the Council of Women for Home Missions, The Federation of Women's Board of Foreign Missions of North America and the National Council of Federated Church Women.

Miss Nina M. Stallings, missionary to China, has completed a year's work as a member of the China Christian Council, an interdenominational group seeking a cooperative effort in China. She says, "I have had a year of rare privileges and opportunities. I worked side by side with eleven Chinese secretaries and two foreign ones. I traveled three months with three Chinese secretaries, never for once was I conscious of it, and the patience and courtesy toward me, the blundering foreigner, was unbelievable. The spiritual fellowship was marvelous. I had a great joy in seeing people of every denomination and faith gathered together in these great conferences, and face problems and see them eye to eye and try to find a solution to them. My entire outlook on mission work is different and my faith in Chinese leadership one hundred per cent stronger."

DEMOCRATS TO PAY DEFICIT

The Democratic Nationaal Committee is endeavoring to raise money sufficiet to liquidate the $800,000 deficit which resultedfrom the last presidential campaign. Kentucky is out to raise $15,000 of that sum. This is a modest assignment and should be raised without difficulty. Each county in the state has been assigned a quota ranging from $100 to $250. The chairman of the county Democratic committee is being held responsible for meeting its obligation. Frederick A. Wallis has assumed the state chairmanship of the fund-raising campaign.

James A. Farley, National Chairman, who is regarded as certain to be in the cabinet as Postmaster General, is anxious that the money be raised by Feb. 28. He will be given a complete report from each county in the state, including names of all contributors and the sums given. It should be a matter of pride with the Democratic organization in each county that the small sum requested is quickly raised and forwarded to Chairman Wallis. The list of donors will be an interesting honor roll.

The Democratic party has never raised large campaign funds. It has never granted concessions to those of great wealth, who in turn have contributed generously to campaign expenses. The modest sums raised to meet the bare essentials of campaign costs have been raised by contributions from the rank and file of the people. Instead of attempting to pay off the deficit with large contributions from the few who now that the party has won, would like to donate, it is preferred that the money come as a manifestation of the interest and loyalty of the average citizen. If he contributes only a dollar Mr. Farley will be asked to note the gift.

She was dead and cold. It was a terrible shock to the family and her many frineds. She had made preparation for death about 2 years ago. She was 53 years old and leaves her hubsand and 9 children to mourn her loss.

Our school closed the 23rd of January, with a nice treat. Arlie Lewis was the teacher.

A large crowd attended the funeral of Mrs. John Conley last Saturday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. B. Whitt.

Uncle Ned Hurley and daughter, Josie, are visiting relatives in Ohio.

Mildred May, who is attending school at West Liberty, is at home this week on account of sickness.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Williams, one day last week, and left a fine girl—Lula Kathryn. LILLIE

WHITE OAK

Feb. 13.—Buford Litteral spent a few days last week at Florress with his grandmother, Mrs. Lou Ross.

J. Woodfodr Howard and son, Harris Steven, of Prestonburg, spent Tuesday night here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Howard, and was accompanied home Wednesday by his nephew, Garland Howard.

R. M. Adkins attended the funeral and burial of his cousin, a Mr. Wells, at Ashland, Wednesday.

Raymond Griffitts visited his sister, Mrs Ernie Ross at Florress, last week.

Snowden Brown spent a few days this week with with his brothers, Henry and Johnnie Brown, at Mt Sterling.

Elmer Howard accompanied his wife to Cannel City one day last week, to see Dr. Whiteaker. Mrs. Howard seems to be slowly improving since she returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adkins Adkins made a business trip to Mt Sterling, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennie Nickell of Malone passed thru here Sunday, enroute to Harbor to visit Mrs Nickell's parents, Mr and Mrs Richard Brown.

HOLLIDAY

Feb. 13.—Asa Stamper of Caney has moved into the Robert Boss property. We welcome him into our community as a neighbor and citizen.

Serena Oney and daughter are the guests of Sam Oney at present.

C. G. Lykins and Mrs. Marie Burton each lost a milch cow last week.

Claud Gullett is planning on moving to Gifford, Magoffin county, within the next few weeks, and Rev. Bradley Baldwin will probably move into Mr. Gullett's property here. We feel that we will miss Claud, and Nora and their little son, Willie Gene Road working, telephone repairing and building of fires are the occupations in this community.

Arnold Holliday, Buford Gullett, Herman Blevins and O. G. Gullett have about decided that they will not have their names in the matrimony column until the depression is over.

Vick Jones is staying with Frank Gullett, and will probably make her home there for awhile.

Mrs. J. D. Whiteaker's essay on need of revivals in these present days was interesting and instructive to Christian people. I feel that the home life has lost many of its former ideals and morals. When this is adjusted, many of the problems of social and religious life will be solved. It is very difficult to teach children and lead them away from home environments. Solomon said that to train a child up right that it would go in the right direction. We need more praying fathers and mothers to make home life ideal. BLUE EYES

MIZE

Feb. 13.—S. M. Fugate of Middletown, Ohio, is visiting relatives here, this week.

PEGGY

GRASSY CREEK

Feb. 13.—We haven't had any mud around here for several days.

The protracted meeting closed last week on account of the cold weather.

The stork finally found his way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Adams and left them a fine boy, Edwin Foster, born Sunday.

On account of the inclement weather, there were only 32 in attendance at Sunday school, the smallest number since its organization last April.

Reece Perkins of Panama, spent Monday night with Bert Gevedon.

We learn that Miss Artie Lykins was married last week, to Mr. Omer Harrison of Vanceburg. Miss Lykins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lykins of Ashland, formerly of this place. We also learn that Everett Gevedon and Miss Virginia Graham, both of Ashland, were married last week. Everett lived here, when a boy, with his grandfather, T. H. Testerman. We think all these young people merit our best wishes.

S. R. Amyx and family of near Mt Sterling visited friends in this section, Sundar.

Miss Jean Gevedon gave a party Saturday night in honor of her brother Bertram's eighteenth birthday and the following persons were in attendance: Misses Crystal Cundiff, Olive McClure, Mary Taulbee, Katherine Greenwood, Gene and Helena Gevedon; Messers. Talmadge McClure, Charles Adams, Elbert Taulbee, Rol, Edward, Bertram and Noel D. Gevedon, and Mr and Mrs. Victor Gevedon. The entertainment consisted of music, games and a service of homehade candy. Everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion.

HOOT! HOOT!

BLAZE

Feb. 6.—The winter weather bore down on the people hard after so long a time with pleasant days.

The tobacco farmers in this section have mostly all shipped their tobacco to market, and most of them received excellent prices in comparison with the proceeds of last year. A heavy tobacco crop will be planted in this section this year.

T. H. Perry, a former resident of Blaze, but now manager of the Salt Lick Roller Mills, at Salt Lick, is here for a few days stay on business.

Many people around Blaze have had the flu this winter, some of whom were dangerously ill. Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Early were very ill, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bud Brown were dangerously sick for some time, and John M. Perry was confined to his bed for a few days, but all are better now.

Mrs. Farmer Lewis visited in Morehead this week, getting her son Alden enrolled in the Morehead Normal College for the remainder of the year

Two bandits, wearing masks, appeared in a corn field near here last week and held up James Roberts and App Blair, who were gathering corn and robbed them. The bandits secured about $350 from Mr. Roberts, which he had in cash in one pocketbook, but overlooked about the same amount which Mr. Roberts had in another purse. The bandits escaped thru the woods and have not been captured or identified.

Luther McClurg, who works for the C & O Railroad, was at home to visit his family over this week end. Luther is exceedingly popular and we are always glad to have him visit his home. He and Mrs. McClurg always make it pleasant for their visitors. This week end they entertained the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunt of Salt Lick, Miss Lottie Sargent, and Paul Crose of Wrigley and Peter Mills, Lizzie Ellington and Frasey Bowling. CITIZEN

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931, C. M. Co.

Better Breakfasts

WHEN the north wind it blows, and the cold nips your nose, and the branches are crackling with ice, then you need something warm to offset the bleak storm, and a good filling breakfast is nice. Then the food in your pot should be hearty and hot, and your overcoat heavy and thick, and the things that you eat should have substance and heat, or the weather will make you feel sick.

But let's get down to prose, although there's nothing prosy about a better breakfast. Here's one for a morning of bitter weather when you need the proteins of meat, the heat of oatmeal and the filling qualities of baked potatoes to help you resist the cold.

Compote of Pears and Apples
Oatmeal
Creamed Chipped Beef
Baked Potatoes
Toast Coffee

Compote of Pears and Apples: Pare and core two large cooking apples, and cut them into eighths. Add one and one-third cups water and one cup sugar to the syrup from a No. 2 can of pears, add a few cloves, and boil for three or four minutes. Add apples, and simmer gently until tender but still in perfect shape. Remove apples, and add pears, whole or cut in halves, and cook until very soft and syrup somewhat thickened. Remove pears to dish with apples, and strain syrup over. Chill. Serves eight.*
